

Sweet Peas Floral

Business is blooming at Sweet Peas Floral. Located in Woodbury since 1996, the store has been owned by Tara Carlson since 2006. Tara's flair for flowers started much earlier, though. Ever since she first worked in a flower shop at the age of 15, she's known that she wanted to be in the business of blooms. After gaining an education in floral practices, she worked in a St. Paul flower shop before deciding to open a business in her hometown of Woodbury. Weddings are Sweet Peas Floral's main focus, with Tara and designer Erica Harvey able to create arrangements that will meet your exact vision. You will find flowers for any occasion here, along with green and blooming plants, cacti and silk flowers. The store has the feel of a quaint European market, with wooden floors and flowers and plants on glorious display. You'll also find gift items and greeting cards sure to put a smile on your loved one's face. Bring a bit of blooming beauty into your life at Sweet Peas Floral.

Bambu

From China to Thailand and Vietnam, the flavors of Asia are deliciously represented at Bambu. Owner Yin Thong opened the business as a way to share the flavors of her native Vietnam with the public. This is a family business, with Yin's parents and brothers and sisters all in important roles. Yin herself has contributed many recipes, in addition to handling the business end of the restaurant. If you're looking for fine, fresh Asian food, this is the place for you. From China, you'll find old favorites like General Tso's Chicken and Egg Fu Young. The spicy tastes of Thailand are also represented here, in dishes such as the Spicy & Sweet Blast Curry and the traditional Pad Thai. From Vietnam, there are such exotic favorites as Garlic Catfish and Lemon Frog Legs. The restaurant is clean, comfortable and contemporary, featuring a small separate bar area for wine, beer and appetizers. Enjoy a culinary trip across all of Asia at Bambu.

Captive Tan

Captive Tan doesn't just help you get that sun-kissed glow, it helps you keep your skin looking great for weeks after you've tanned. Owners Jesse and Marysia Baartman have been helping clients maintain a healthy color since 1997. In addition to tanning beds, Captive Tan provides a variety of ways to achieve golden skin. Whether you prefer a low, medium or high pressure sun bed, want to save time in the quick stand-up booth, or receive a spray tan in the Mystic Tan booth, even cloudy weather won't be able to keep you fair. In addition to new beds and bulbs, Captive Tan offers a variety of maximizing lotions to help you develop a deep base tan while moisturizing the skin. After-tan and intensifying lotions are also available. With its elegant, peaceful ambiance and a knowledgeable staff, Captive Tan offers you a private space to relax. Come soak up some rays and see why Captive Tan was named Best Tanning Salon by Citysearch.

Energy Savers

For more than 30 years, Energy Savers has been the place to go for those looking to heat their home in ways that save energy, money and the Earth. The store is a father-and-son operation owned by Andrew and Jeff Bartlett. You'll find at least one member of the Bartlett family here at any given time, ready to help you find the perfect way to keep your home toasty. With the high cost of energy these days, it makes sense to look into options such as the attractive gas fireplaces and stoves that will add beauty and warmth to any room. If you're looking to heat with a renewable energy source, try one of the many wood-burning, pellet fireplaces and stoves. Looking to cook without using electricity? There are lots of gas grill options, including traditional barbecues and smokers. Energy Savers also specializes in inserts, brick, veneered stone, glass doors, mantels and surrounds. The friendly service department can take care of your repair and maintenance needs. Get fired up over money-saving and earth-saving heating options at Energy Savers.
